DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 8, and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Marrapese, US Patent 2,797,592. (Note figure 2.) An electronic equipment comprising an operation tool to be mounted on a support member; wherein said operation tool includes an operation portion 8 to be operated by an operator; a mounting portion located on 3 formed spaced apart from the operation portion in a direction where an impact may be applied to the operation tool, the mounting portion being arranged to be mounted on the support member 3; and a crashable connecting portion 12 for connecting together the operation portion and the mounting portion (Note that whether an element is crashable depends largely on the amount of force applied; because this region 12 is thinner than other parts of the device, it would be crashable relative to other parts of the knob); the crashable connecting portion being adapted to be crashed upon an impact force exerted on the operation portion such that when the crashable connecting portion is crashed, the operation portion moves with respect to the portion. The crashable connecting portion radially extends from the mounting portion to the operation portion. A portion of the connecting portion is bent, as can be seen in figure 2. The connecting portion is formed with a cut-away section, above and below itself. Element 8 can be considered an outer knob. A "ring-shaped plate portion" and a "bridge portion" can be arbitrarily taken along the connection portion to include an axial shift, thus meeting the claim limitations. Depending on how the device is used, the mounting portion may not move upon an impact force exerted on the outer knob, as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 7, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marrapese in view of Howie, Jr., US Patent 5,469,758.

Although an additional outer knob covering is not provided by Marrapese, it is well known in the art of dials and knobs to use covers for such device. Howie provides teaching of an outer covering of softer plastic material which would provide a more comfortable feel during operation, as well as a better gripping surface. It would have been obvious to have modified the device of Marrapese to include such a modification, as generally taught by Howie, for the purpose of providing a more comfortable feel during operation, as well as a better gripping surface.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3 and 4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Newly discovered art has been applied meeting the majority of the claim limitations, as cited above.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
